

Here at the summit stood the winding engine Drawing the wagons up from the coalfield below over the hump and down the other side into the Gaunless valley and St Helen. The trees of the orchard still bear fruit, more than sixty five years since the last inhabitants moved away Emigrating to a new life in Canada